

SAFIM COMMITMENT

ABOUT HEALTH SAFETY

«Each achievement is but a starting point for the next goal».

- Alberto Crivello

The propagation of a safety culture among the staff increases the satisfaction of employees and, in general, improves the business climate. The process of obtaining the certification involved different areas of our organization, and lasted about six months during which three main phases were fulfilled:

- Planning

Starting with an analysis of the activities performed by the employees. As a result, we developed the policy to be adopted in terms of safety, and eventually we planned objectives and strategies that had to be achieved on time due.

- Carrying into action

At this stage, the actions planned in the policy are implemented concretely by defining the roles and responsibilities of personnel involved, and verifying that the training is adequate and appropriate to the improvement project

- Monitoring

Careful analysis and processes control are regularly carried out to achieve the set objectives and, possibly, suggest corrective action in case of any discrepancy with what was planned. A daily work of constant attention in order to ensure only the best to our customers and to our staff because sometimes, even the smallest adjustments help to ensure the safety and daily welfare of all. We believe that the worth of a company is measured out in it.
